St Augustine's Christmas Parade

SATP joins St Augustine Christmas Parade

The Saint Augustine Tea Party (SATP) participated in the 2014 annual Christmas Parade which was held in the historic district on December 6, 2014. The SATP entered the replica float known as the Dartmouth in the Christmas Parade. The Dartmouth was acquired by the SATP in March of 2014. [The original Dartmouth was one of three ships, in the Boston Harbor, from which tea was thrown overboard by the "Sons of Liberty" on December 16, 1763 Ed.] In the early days of the Tea Party movement, the modern day replica of the Dartmouth made many appearances in parades and rallies in Northeast Florida and Georgia. It also made trips to Washington, DC during the massive Tea Party rallies, held in 2009 and 2010, in the Nation's Capital. The Dartmouth was constructed by Glenn Lord Sr., an early Tea Party activist. The Dartmouth has been in "Dry Dock" for the past couple of months. While in storage, the ship received a "bow to stern" paint job, restoring it to its original colors. This shipshape vessel was well received by the largely local parade attendees. Though the City promoted "Happy Holidays", the public's response was "Merry Christmas" to the Tea Party members. "During the entire parade route no one wished us 'Happy Holidays'. That just demonstrates the resistance which the public shows to Governmental Political Correctness," a Tea Party observer said.

On the Aft Deck

On the aft deck, Peter Royal greeted the crowd with a prolonged "Merryeee Christmas!" greeting all the way down the Parade Route. The response from the onlookers was friendly and welcome with many calls of "Merry Christmas" back to Peter and the guests on board the Dartmouth. A lot of work goes into putting the Christmas Parade together with scores of floats and vehicles of all types. Plus, there are organizations who marched the entire distance. Normally the local newspaper covers the event for the Sunday morning edition following the Saturday event. There is plenty of time to write feature story for the front page. What a disappointment when the St. Augustine Record featured another 'water saving' article top-fold, front page of the Sunday Edition, with a large picture! There was no mention of the Christmas parade until page 6A. Christmas comes but once a year, why wasn't the St. Augustine Christmas Parade featured on the front page of the St. Augustine Record? Oh yeah, and the winners of the float contest: 1. City of St. Augustine, 2. Balloon Construction, 3. St. Augustine Amphitheater! What is that about? And no pictures of any of them! (Just 4 blurry pictures on page 6, and no list of the other entrants) Shame on the Record! (By the way, there were 167 pictures on the On-line issue of the Record. But still, none of the Dartmouth!)

who covered most of the political news in the City and County. The local coverage of news is like a pile of unfolded laundry...disjointed, mismatched and confusing.

No one answered the door at the Record, on Saturday afternoon, when the 35 foot Dartmouth and crew arrived for a visit. The physical Record Newspaper, that is, the one subscribers receive in their paper box outside their home, is now a 'lost leader'. The new 'all girls' management team fired all the 'stringers' (those locals who got the clothes line news) along with the termination of Peter Guinta,

The reason for the unscheduled visit of the 35 foot Dartmouth Float to the Record Headquarters was for a photo opportunity. Somehow or other, the Record photographer missed taking a picture of the Dartmouth at the St. Patrick's Day Parade this year and the SATP members were disappointed. And now, he took no pictures of the Dartmouth in the Christmas Parade. The Record has been shunning the Saint Augustine Tea Party, particularly after the former Editor Peter Ellis' parting Editorial, Laughing In The Face of the St Augustine Tea Party, last year. Again, it was witnessed during the parade, that when the Record Photographer lifted his camera to take a picture of the Tea Party's float, he suddenly lowered his camera, made some off the cuff comment, stepped aside and, instead, took a picture of the Hari Krishna assembly directly behind the Dartmouth.

Perhaps the Record photographer, Gary LeVeille, was offended by the "Merry Christmas" signage on the bow of the Dartmouth float. Or, perhaps, he received orders from the new editorial staff at the Record to exclude and marginalize the Tea Party's presence in the City of St. Augustine. "Sorry, we are not going away. The public loves the Tea Party Movement, despite all the leftist propaganda against this Constitutional Revival," a spokesman for the SATP said.

Enemies Foreign and Domestic

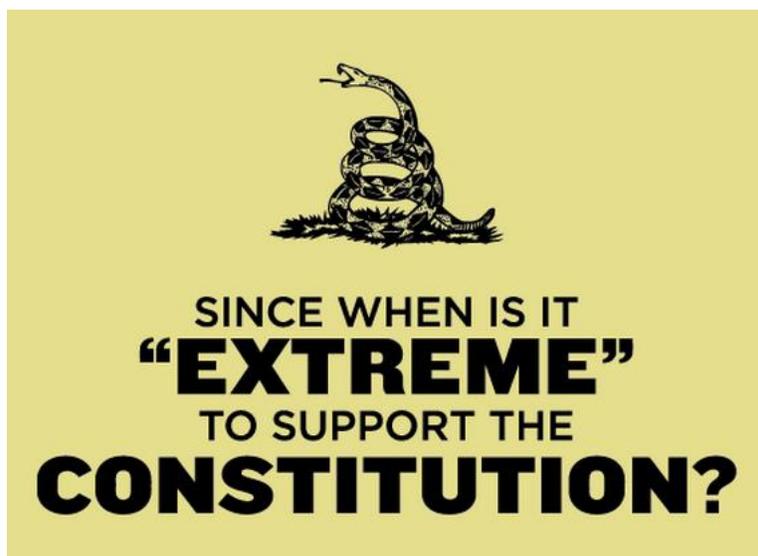

On December 7, 1941, America's greatest threat was from foreign external sources. Foreign enemies were present throughout the world. With the attack on Pearl Harbor, Americans united in a great crusade to destroy the evil that threatened Liberty. It should be noted that the anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, has largely been ignored by the mainstream establishment press. The day Roosevelt declared as, "a day that would live in infamy" has been suppressed by the media. The same media also fails to report, that on December 7, 2014 America's greatest threat is now domestic.

Will Americans once again stand for Liberty?

The Progressive movement is Communism, one step at a time. On this December 7th, the American people are in the crosshairs of this evil attack. The White House occupiers, pictured here, are only the tip of the Communist iceberg. The Communist movement has infested government at all levels. Tea Party sources maintain that both political parties are complicit in the drift to Communism. The Tea Party movement's values offer hope for a new birth of Liberty.

Saint Augustine Tea Party has a Christmas Party

The Saint Augustine Tea Party held its fifth annual Christmas Party on December 9, 2014. This year the event was held at the Gypsy Cab Restaurant in St Augustine, Florida. The well attended party was enjoyed by all present. The "Grass Roots" organization has been meeting bi-monthly for over four years.

Hey Santa Claus!

The best gift that our Florida Legislators can give us is "Leave us alone!"

The price of Freedom is 'eternal vigilance'. In today's language, it is your duty to look out for the thieves who want to steal your stuff through taxes and fees, conning you, brain washing you and dummifying down your children in government schools. The price you pay is the inconvenience of turning off your television, putting on your shoes and hat, joining the Tea Party and other grass roots groups like Act for America, Oath Keepers, Bear Witness and etc. That's how to shine the light on the leftist termites who have been eating away at the foundation principles of our Country and Florida's education system.

Photos by TCC Staff

This spontaneous caucus was an 'After the Party, Party' that took place at the Village Inn, the unofficial office of the Saint Augustine Tea Party. All are totally against "Common Core". The two Florida Legislative candidates, above, are running to fill the seats abandoned by the 'already elected' legislators who are scrambling, like passengers on the Titanic, for a higher position and for personal gain. Dennis and Sheamus, sound like true Reagan Conservatives, backed up by actually fighting against the leftist's Common Core curriculum which is now being implemented in County Schools all around Florida. McDonald's wife, Janet, is against Common Core and is a member of the Flagler County School Board. "Anyone with a track record against 'Common Core' needs your vote," according to Dave Heimbold, SATP Media Chairman.

The Republican scramble to fill Senator Thrasher’s seat, after he resigned to take the near $500,000 dream job as President of FSU, has trampled the already tarnished reputation of the Republican Party here in St. Johns County. The ‘special election’ for Thrasher’s Senate seat, has enticed two GOP local State legislators, “Doc” Renuart and Travis Hutson, to resign their elected House seats and run against each other for Thrasher’s vacant Senate seat; and Cindy Stevenson has resigned her St. Johns County Commissioner’s seat to run for “Doc” Renault’s vacated seat. Confusing? Yes.

This Republican ‘Kabuki Theater’ fiasco can be solved by putting “Doc” Renuart, Travis Hutson and Cindy Stevenson on your ‘not to vote for’ list in the January 27, 2014 special election. Footnote: The Saint Augustine Tea Party does not endorse candidates but has published a “NOT TO VOTE FOR” list in the past elections.

Socialist Termites Eating Up USA

December 21, 2014

Guest Editorial:

By David Heimbold

Regionalization and the "Quality of Life" song played by the Sustainability Band are creeping into every village, town, city and county in the United States, unawares. Recently, the socialist termites in St. Augustine, Florida have been plotting to 'fix' the Oldest City in the United States with a collective which they call 'Vision'. This is a 'group think' model, a tightly controlled agenda that makes the participants feel as if they are contributing to the VISION of fixing St. Augustine's traffic flow, sea level heights, social intercourse of all types, bicycle paths for the masses, buses for the disadvantaged, and to "create a new city brand consistent with the vision of livable, authentic, character" and, above all, 'sustainability'.

All of this psycho-babble comes right out of the play book of Beatrice Webb, the mother of socialist double-talk, who 'fell in love' with the Soviet Communist model back in the 1920's and 30's. How in the world has St. Augustine survived for 450 years without the help of these 'new age' busybodies? These new socialist termites are swarming around St. Augustine now, but they are going to lose their teeth on the City's coquina foundation.

Beatrice and her husband, Stanley, back then, were convinced that Capitalism was dead, after WW1. They started the London School of Economics. They were Fabian Marxists, belonging to that group of deceivers which included George Bernard Shaw, who used to 'bang' his daughter. Weirdo, John Maynard Keynes and his "Keynesian Revolution," as it is now known, transformed the Power of the State, from protecting Life and Property, into the nanny State providing pampers for children and toilet training for adults. Keynesian Economics is taught at all Ivy League Schools...at Yale and Harvard where George W. Bush and Barack Hussein Obama attended. Keynesian thinking, ingrained in our best MBA's, is best summed up in our $18 Trillion Debt.

Today, the same pattern of deception is spoon fed to the masses of deceived Americans who have once again fallen for the Obamanation of Health Care, open Immigration and his Religious belief that 'carbon' in coal, oil and human breath is bad, but 'wind power' is good. This Marxist 'Upside-Down-ism' believes that the Free Enterprise engine which creates wealth is broken; and that the 'Community', the collective, the Marxist dream of egalitarianism (that has never worked) is the answer. Wrong! He and 'it' and the 'social engineers' are the problem...and they are active in your own City and County.

The terms Regionalization, Quality of Life, and Sustainability are red flags of Soviet style communism.

The Tea Party Movement is liberating the slaves of collectivism, one brain at a time. Join the movement back to individual responsibility and sanity. Merry Christmas!

Agenda 21/Sustainable Development

Earth Summit - Agenda 21: The United Nations Program of Action

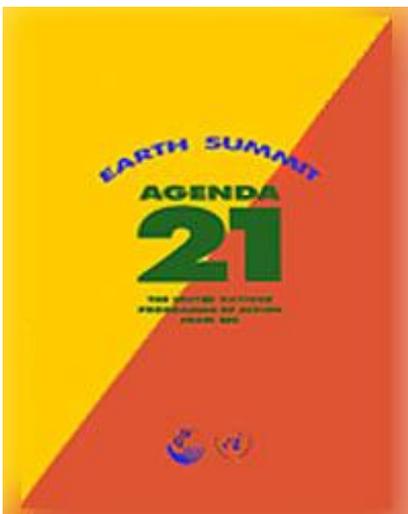

Chapter 7 - Human Settlements: Section 7.52: Promoting....urban transport systems....should be a comprehensive approach to urban-transport planning and management. To this end, all countries should:

1. ...encourage development patterns that reduce transport demand
2. Adopt urban-transport programs favoring high-occupancy public transport...
3. Encourage non-motorized modes of transport by providing safe cycle ways (bike paths) and footways in urban and suburban centers....

Regionalism is Communism

Towns across the country are adopting these transport systems. This is because these systems are imposed upon locales by a regional level of government largely unknown and when known, underestimated. In the words of Charlotte Iserbyt, former Department of Education official and author of The Deliberate Dumbing Down of America, Regionalism is Communism. Regionalism promotes soviet style councils that develop policy that is then rubber-stamped by elected officials, with no meaningful public oversight. It is an extra level of government that operates outside the provisions of the Constitution, thus advancing globalist objectives while insulating most elected officials.

Regionalism embraced by both political parties

Earth Summit known as the Rio Earth Summit was where more than 178 nations adopted Agenda 21, and pledged to evaluate progress made in implementing the plan every five years thereafter. President George H. W. Bush was the signatory for the United States. Although Congress never authorized the implementation of Agenda 21 (as a soft-law policy recommendation, not a treaty - it needs no ratification), in 1993 President Bill Clinton established, by Executive Order 12852, the President's Council on Sustainable Development.

Communists always hide

At times the political agenda embodied in Sustainable Development is implemented under other names for purposes of political expediency. J. Gary Lawrence, a planner for the City of Seattle and advisor to the President's Council on Sustainable Development said in 1998, "Participating in a U. N. advocated planning process would very likely bring out many....who would actively work to defeat any elected official....undertaking Local Agenda 21. So we will call our process something else, such as “comprehensive planning,” “growth management,” or “smart growth.”

The UN Agenda 21 uses WARM FUZZY (Red Flag) words to get their point across: Environmental, Economy, Equity, Consensus, Affordable Housing, Friends of..., Regional, Facilitator, Quality of life, Benefit of all, Sanctuary, Vision, Social Justice, Historic Preservation, School to work, Public/Private Partnerships, Endangered Species, Traffic Calming, Common Good, Collaborative, Land Use Change, Sustainable Development, Smart Growth.

Sustainable Development: Land Use Programs

Sustainable Development is a plan for global control, including the restriction of land use and resource extraction. The land use element of Sustainable Development calls for the implementation of two action plans designed to abolish private property: the Wildlands Network and Smart Growth. Upon final implementation of these plans all human action is subject to control.

Since all things ultimately come from natural resources on rural lands, the transfer of the landscape from private control to government control will make it easy for government and its partners - NGOs, foundations, businesses, and corporations - to control what we have, what we do, and where we go. The transformation of free societies into collectivized societies through Sustainable Development ensures dominance by a ruling elite which, by definition, excludes all but a very select few.

The Wildlands Network (aka Wildlands Project) is the plan to eliminate human presence, thereby setting aside huge tracts of land (about 50% of the United States) into reserve wilderness areas, with interconnecting corridors, islands of human settlement, and “buffer zones” where use would be severely restricted or eliminated altogether. Packaged as a measure to protect the earth’s supposedly dwindling resources, assumed the “moral authority” which few dared to challenge, but its far-reaching implications revealed the collectivist agenda. Examples of the piece-by-piece implementation of the Wildlands Network include road closures, the policy of breaching dams and the adoption of United Nations World Heritage Sites - which are systematically being restricted and closed to use. “Conservation biologists now agree that protecting isolated pockets of habitat isn’t enough to protect our bears, jaguars, beavers, birds and other wildlife - the only way to protect them is to practice conservation on a continental scale,” announced Wildlands Project Executive Director, Leanne Klyza Linck, at the Society of Environmental Journalists Conference on September 12, 2003.

The most significant tools of the Wildlands Network is the rapidly expanding imposition of habitat “protection” provisions under the Endangered Species Act, the adoption of “conservation easements” and direct land acquisitions from battered “willing sellers.”

The Wildlands Network seeks to collectivize all natural resources (e.g. water) and centralize all use decisions under bureaucratic direction, often implemented through public private partnerships.

Smart Growth

Through Smart Growth (like Smart Meters), the infrastructure is being created for a post-private property era in which human action is subject to centralized government control. With the combined implementation of Smart Growth and the Wildlands Network, humans will be herded into urban centers and the animals will run free.

Smart Growth is the centralized control of every aspect of urban life: energy and water use, housing stock and allocation, population levels and control, public health and dietary regimens, resources and recycling, “social justice” and education, toxic technology and waste management, transportation modes and mobility restrictions, business and economic activity including capping and trading energy.

HUD-DOT-EPA PARTNERSHIP FOR SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITIES

In 2009, these three Federal Agencies partnered using “LIVABILITY” (another buzz word) principles to gain greater involvement in local planning and regulations. Refer to “LIVABLE COMMUNITIES ACT 2. 1619.”

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT CHALLENGE GRANT PROGRAM - FEDERAL REGISTER/VOL. 63, NO 163 / MONDAY, AUGUST 24, 1998/ NOTICES 45157 This page from the Federal Register clearly indicate that the EPA’s Challenge Grant Program was created for the purpose of implementing Agenda 21 in the United States. See below:

...THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT CHALLENGE GRANT PROGRAM IS ALSO A STEP IN IMPLEMENTING “AGENDA 21, THE GLOBAL PLAN OF ACTION ON SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT.” SIGNED BY THE UNITED STATES AT THE EARTH SUMMIT IN RIO DE JANEIRO IN 1992.....

THROUGH THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT CHALLENGE GRANT PROGRAM, EPA ALSO INTENDS TO FURTHER THE VISION AND GOALS OF THE PRESIDENT’S COUNCIL ON SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT (PCSD). CREATED IN 1993 BY PRESIDENT CLINTON..... EXECUTIVE ORDER 13575

President Obama signed an EO in June of 2011 giving each of the federal agencies authority over the “FOOD, FIBER AND ENERGY” for all of rural America or 16% of the United States. Control of resources is a key requirement of sustainable development as it enables the governing authority the power to manage their usage more efficiently than individuals and communities. In March of 2012, President Obama signed EO 13602 giving HUD the authority to engage in city, community and regional planning to “augment their vision for stability and economic growth...” This EO insures that “Federal assistance is more efficiently provided and used.” HUD now has the ability to create regulations to enforce that local and regional planning the government feels is beneficial to the fiscal stability of the United States.

Top Down Control

The Secretaries of HUD, DOT and the EPA make it clear that the federal government intends to manage your community design, to make it ‘livable’ and environmentally green, all according to their needs and definitions.

Each of the projects and grants, though verbally and graphically enticing, precisely echo the Vancouver Plan of Action. The results are exactly as defined in Vancouver in 1976.

EPA - Environmental Justice 2014

In January 2012, the EPA changed their decision making process to embrace sustainable development as defined in the UN's 1987 Brundtland Report. In April 2012, the agency created plans to incorporate civil rights regulations in their environmental policy to establish a basis for environmental justice.

Today, the move toward world government is being accomplished largely through the UN charter laid foundation for a one-world government with unlimited power. Individual rights and liberties like those enjoyed in the United States - Freedom of Religion, Speech, the Press, the Right to Bear Arms, to Own Property, to Manage One's Own Affairs - had no place in the philosophy of the UN founders. They envisioned an all-powerful, global authority with power to bend nations into conformity with its plans for the "World Community."

Freedom once lost, lost forever!
