The BREXIT Lesson For America

by John Knapp

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."

Stirring words of the opening sentence of the American Declaration of Independence....obviously similar to what was on the minds of the 52 percent of Brits who just voted to exit the failing socialist European Union, a Socialist political contrivance of the highest order. Good for the Brits. The EU had it coming.

UK, the first EU domino, has wisely fallen out. There will be more EU dominoes, sooner rather than later. Certainly, the relentless, unchecked invasion of all Europe by Shariah-driven Middle Eastern hordes has demonstrated to a majority of EU residents the absolute folly in ceding their lives to a clueless, distant, and ideologically-flawed government. Brussels has inflicted upon all Europe a toothless, dangerous, socialist pipe-dream. Why it is Europe always has to learn common sense the hard way?

What just happened in the UK is a wake-up call to Americans, who are also being forced against their will into living in a somewhat analogous situation. Washington, D.C. has become anathema to America's founding principles. Against the backdrop of overtaxing, overspending, and over-governing, this government punishes success and rewards failure, bruising - or stealing - the incentive of all.

This government conspires to control every facet of American life, from the light bulbs we can buy, to the cars we can drive, to how marriage shall be defined, to the health care insurance we are allowed to have, to the healthcare we are allowed to have, to the public restrooms we may choose to enter....depending on the gender we might choose to be on any given day.

Obviously, I have left out a great many grievances and abuses inflicted on a formerly much freer American Citizenry. (It's a long laundry list.) Suffice it to say, where government grows, liberty must yield. We are living through an imperial presidency, led by an imperial government, which has too many self-serving reasons not to oppose that imperial president or its imperial self. Truth is, too many government bureaucrats and too many politicians regard the American Citizenry as their spoils of victory.

The U.S. Constitution did not direct that American Citizens were to become subjects of corrupt, runaway government and the spoils of the political parties which jostle to mismanage it.

If ordinary, garden-variety Americans love their country, and see the Constitutional ideals upon which it was founded as the indispensable guarantor of their liberty, then they will rise up and put a stop to the abuses being heaped upon them. The Brits have started something old but misplaced, men yearning to breathe free.

Americans' security has been compromised by a government (and leaders) derelict in their Constitutional duties to secure it. America is being invaded with millions of illegal immigrants. Millions have simply walked across the Southwest border, while millions more (primarily middle-Eastern Muslims 'refugees') have purposely been brought here, at the direction of the United Nations, with the American government's complicity.

In all its ridiculousness, what Brussels fomented in the EU countries, the United Nations and the U.S. government are very likely fomenting here: Radical Islamic Terrorism, RIT, deliberately brought into our midst. Diversity might work in the ecosystem, but mindless diversity, for the sake of diversity, within any nation, is a recipe for bloodletting on a grand scale. Red ants and black ants don't get along, either, you know.

America's revered motto used to be E Pluribus Unum, or 'Out of many, one.' If the global elites continue to have their disorderly way, America's motto may as well be changed to E Pluribus Pluribus. Out of many, many, the Balkanization of America, and its ruination forevermore.

So, what can America do to get itself back to where it was meant to be? We don't want to start taking votes on whether to secede from the Union, as the UK just did with the EU. Our 50 individual states have much more in common with each other than the nation-states that heretofore comprise the European Union.

The remedy the 50 American states already have at their disposal, that the EU nations had not, is our Tenth Amendment from the Bill of Rights, which plainly states 'The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.' That was the deal from the beginning, the States' 'get-out' clause, the deal-closer, given by the Federal Union to each State, should the Union one day get too big for its britches....which it has.

So, it will not take 100 years to reverse the socialism that is dogging American politics. If a few conservative states will take the lead, and begin the process of nullifying the many over-reaches (tyranny) that are being imposed upon them, more states will follow, and the federal leviathan will soon be clipped.

Texans, nor any the rest of us, would need to vote to leave the Union if they would just use this Constitutional remedy already available to them. Through deliberate acts of nullification under the 10th Amendment, the states have within their power the means to derail this runaway federal freight train.

We have two presidential suitors left, would-be occupants to the Oval Office next. Odds are neither of these two will perform toward breaking up the intolerable federal monolith. In fact, they each may exacerbate the problem even further. So, this is an invitation to any State Legislatures that believe liberty is the key to America's greatness, that American Citizens' servitude before their government is intolerable and hateful.....

God willing let the Nullification begin.

Dartmouth Arrives at Historic St. Augustine for the Independence Day Celebration

The Dartmouth, of Boston Tea Party fame, arrived today, to moor at the Castillo de San Marcos dock. You can see in the picture that she is flying a Gadsden flag. It is in honor of Christopher Gadsden, who was held prisoner, for 10 months, by the British, here at the Fort. Gadsden designed the “Don’t tread on me flag”, which was used during the Revolutionary War and has become the standard of the “Tea Party Movement”. The Dartmouth was one of three vessels that were in Boston harbor on December 16, 1773. The “Sons of Liberty” raided the three ships, the Beaver, the Eleanor and the Dartmouth. No damage was done to the ships which were American owned. British owned tea was another matter. There were 340 chests weighing 92,000 pounds, having a value in today’s dollars in excess of 1.7 million dollars were dumped in the Boston Harbor.

At the time, John Adams said, “The Dye is cast: The People have passed the River and cutt away the Bridge: last Night Three Cargoes of Tea were emptied into the Harbour. This is the grandest, Event, which has ever yet happened Since, the Controversy, with Britain, opened!” ~ John Adams to James Warren, December 17, 1773 [No Political Correctness here Ed]

Well, not exactly... it isn’t possible for the original ship to sail into St. Augustine, because she foundered and sunk in 1774. However, everything said about the Gadsden flag, Mr. Gadsden and the “Sons of Liberty” is true. The picture above is the St. Augustine Tea Party’s Dartmouth. A jarringly resemblance to the original was captured in this photograph.

The Dartmouth did arrive at the Castillo de San Marcos at 7 AM July 4, 2016. Tea Party volunteers served the ship well over the next 15 hours of festivities in the historic district. The Dartmouth was docked at the main entrance to the Castillo de San Marcos National Monument. The Castillo is probably the most popular destination in St. Augustine. The Dartmouth was visible to the bay-front traffic and was ground zero for fireworks viewing. This prominent location caused nearly everyone attending St. Augustine’s 4th of July celebration to witness the Tea Party presence. It is an honor to be able to tell the rest of this story.

60,000 + Visit St. Augustine for the Fourth

Photos by TCC Staff

Various sources predicted that 80,000 people would attend the Fourth of July festivities in the historic district of St. Augustine, Florida. It is impossible to tell, from our vantage point, whether that number was achieved. Early in the day, it felt light. However, as evening approached the crowd at the bay-front and at the Castillo de San Marcos appeared to be at full capacity. Tea party volunteers who have experienced several Fourth of July events estimate that between 60 and 80,000 people were present.

Trolley Trains

The Dartmouth was situated such that each trolley train dispatched during the course of the day stopped directly in front of the ship. Passengers embarked and disembarked in front of the Dartmouth. This resulted in every passenger on every train witnessing the St. Augustine Tea Party's (SATP) war on political correctness.

Public Involvement

In addition to the Dartmouth present, the Tea Party maintained an adjacent tent and table. Free ice water, Constitutions, small American and Gadsden flags and candy for the children were available to the public. Park regulations prohibit the sale of any goods on public land. However, unsolicited donations are permitted. The Tea Party reported that donations were higher than at any other time in the past; reflecting the public's continuing interest in supporting the "Tea Party Movement". The man holding the "Hillary for Prison" sign, pictured right, said, "I'm going to donate, but what else can I do to help?" Since he was wearing a Second Amendment T-shirt, he was shown a Town Crier sign which pictured an AR 15 and the words "Come and take It". This gentleman, from the Tampa area, took the sign out into the crowds at the park. About a half hour later he came back expressing disbelief at the reception he received, "They took my picture, they applauded me, they loved the sign." So, the Tea Party volunteer showed him the latest sign which states "Hillary for Prison". To the volunteer's surprise, he took that sign out for another half hour. This popular response was no surprise to the Town Criers, a Committee of the St. Augustine Tea Party, as they have been carrying these politically incorrect signs in the historic district for the past five years. "The acceptance is always the same. The public hungers for speech that is not dominated by political correctness," Lance Thate, SATP Chairman explained.

Free Speech at the Castillo de San Marcos

The carrying of signs was not always possible at the Castillo de San Marcos because of "Free Speech Zones". In fact, the SATP received a citation on July 4, 2013, for failure to observe the "Free-Speech Zones"; it was later rescinded. Negotiations with Park Superintendent, Gordon Wilson, opened up the grounds of the Park to free speech. The SATP believes that this was possible because of Mr. Wilson's commitment to the First Amendment and the Constitution of the United States.

Today, was the third time, the Dartmouth has visited the Castillo de San Marcos National Monument. Mr. Wilson personally welcomed the officers of the SATP. The Tea Party extends its thanks to Mr. Wilson and his staff for being such great hosts.

USA! USA!

During the course of the fireworks, rockets spelled out USA in the night sky. The public's response was the familiar chant, "USA! USA! USA! USA!" The response was even greater than the finale at the end of the show. The American people are not interested in Obama's transformation of America. They are happy with the way it has always been. The communist agenda of "sustainability" is internationally driven and not American. The People are not interested in the Democrat agenda that matches perfectly with the agenda of the Communist Party USA. The corruption of both parties is being rejected. The people have reached a point where they are coming to understand that they must reject the Socialist agenda. Hence the great populist surge. It is no longer about establishment candidates. It is about who is behind the establishment candidates. It certainly is not "We the people". The tyranny emanating from all levels of government is stifling. In 1776, it was said that, "We live in times that try men's souls". In 2016 we also live in times that try men's souls. Wake up Washington, because Americans are waking up. These are the thoughts and conversations that your reporter was privileged to witness this 4th of July, in the Nation's Oldest City, St. Augustine, Florida.

The Establishment... Defined

The term “The Establishment” is a dominant political consideration of the 2016 election. If you’re an “outsider, you’re in and if you’re an insider, you’re out”, has been the people’s reaction to the candidates. It explains Bernie Sanders' and Donald Trump's successes. “The Establishment” candidates, showered with money and favorable press have traditionally been the ones that prevail. The 2016 election has been the exception to the rule. This has “The Establishment” worried. But just who is “The Establishment”?

In a contemporary sense, “The Establishment” could be defined as those politicians who have made their lifetime career their involvement in the governmental process. They are the familiar names. The Bush family and the Clintons come to mind. However, “The Establishment” as a term predates the current elitist icons.

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is headquartered in the elegant Harold Pratt House, pictured above, at 58 E. 68th St. in New York City. The CFR was formed in 1921. The CFR describes itself as a think tank whose purpose is to study and explore policy as it relates to foreign affairs. They claim to be non-partisan. They can afford to because their members dominate both parties. The CFR currently has about 4900 members. One can only become a member, through nomination by others already in the Council. In other words, membership is by invitation. Attending establishment schools such as Harvard, Yale, Columbia, and by being in the proper organizations, such as the “Skull and Bones”, helps the nomination process. In spite of its relatively small size, the CFR is a homogeneous group with a huge influence, particularly on foreign affairs. The CFR has been predominant in every administration since Franklin Delano Roosevelt’s (FDR) presidency. Numerous Presidents have been members, but if they were not, their staff and Cabinet members were CFR members and had a principal role in influencing the administrations.

The CFR has a publication entitled “Foreign Affairs”. Each member receives a copy. Recommendations appearing in the publication invariably become policy or law within a relatively short period of time. Approximately half of the 4900 members live in Washington, D.C. or New York. The rest are spread out across the country and in some cases, abroad. Are the CFR members who comprise this think tank, “The Establishment”? We’ll be able to answer that question, shortly.

America’s Fundamental Transformation

In 1908, Sen. Nelson Aldrich, at the urging of America’s International bankers, went to Europe to study central banking. The Rothschild’s International banking model was of particular interest. America’s fundamental transformation took place in 1913. The Congress of the United States delegated its Article 1, section 8, Clause 5, responsibility to regulate the value of money to a cartel of private International bankers.

With the creation of the Federal Reserve system, private bankers acquired the ability to make credit adjustments between themselves and the U. S. Treasury. This allowed them to acquire government debt out of thin air and collect the interest from the American taxpayer. To assure that there would be a source of revenue to pay the interest, a new source of revenue was also created in 1913, the Income Tax. This income tax, sold as a tax on the rich, was enacted. However, the rich never contemplated paying income tax. It was always a middle-class tax. The Rockefeller, J.P. Morgan and Carnegie Foundations, to name a few, were all in place prior to the enactment of the income tax. The foundations pay no taxes due to their so called philanthropy activities. The foundations provide the rich, that which they really desire the most... Power.

The Establishment Resides in the Shadows

The secretive meeting at Jekyll Island, in 1910 with Sen. Aldrich and representatives of the prominent International bankers, namely J.P. Morgan and the Rockefellers, crafted what was to become the Federal Reserve.

Eight years later CFR started as a front organization for the J.P. Morgan and Rockefeller interests. International bankers and international corporations have no National interests or desire for National borders. They have no National loyalties. The acquisition of assets is their only concern. Monopolies, coupled with government maximize profits. Since its inception, the CFR has promoted world government with a preference to totalitarianism, namely Communism.

According to Baron M.A. Rothschild, “Give me control over a nation’s currency and I care not who makes its laws.” The concept of “We the People” has become “We the Bankers”. The result has been a sea of public and private debt. The theft of our money through inflation and politicians that are bought and sold as cattle is our heritage. International financial and corporate identities, representing the moneyed elites have been “The Establishment” that resides just a little out of view, in the shadows, since the 1913 transformation. The CFR is a mouthpiece for the International bankers and the politicians play its tune.

Now Comes Trump

Along comes Donald Trump, appealing to “We the People”. A populist, speaking to the “National Spirit”. Nationalism is exactly why CFR was created in the first place. “The Establishment” has no use for a free people making their own decisions. Politicians from both parties bend to the will of “The Establishment”. Not since Ronald Reagan, has anybody spoken of the Exceptionalism and Greatness of America. The Reagan administration was infested with CFR members detracting greatly from the National direction. His Vice President, George Walker Bush, was a CFR member. Much of Reagan’s accomplishments were plowed under by Bush’s administration. The trade agreements and the open borders that Trump rejects, makes him a target of “The Establishment”. According to them, he clearly is not supposed to be the Republican nominee. If Trump starts picking CFR members for his administration, “We the People” will have a pretty clear picture of who he is and whether any change should be expected. Hillary Clinton is a CFR member. Is there anything else to say?

St Augustine Tea Party Holds its Annual Meeting

Election of Officers the Order of Business

On July 12, 2016, the St. Augustine Tea Party (SATP) held its sixth annual meeting at the Village Inn. The SATP conducts open meetings on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The meetings feature informative speakers and the public is invited. The only exception is on the second Tuesday of July. On that day, the SATP holds its annual meeting for the election of officers, as required in their bylaws. Only actual members of the SATP can participate in the election of officers. The offices of Chairman, Treasurer and Secretary were up for consideration.

Current Officers Retained by Acclamation

There being no nominations other than the current officeholders, the members of the SAT P elected the Slate of Officers to serve for the next 12 months by acclamation. After the election of the Officers meeting was adjourned, a lively political discussion continued over dinner. The Officers for the coming year are as follows:

- Chairman, Lance Thate
- Treasurer, David Heimbold
- Secretary, Kelly Lorbeer

What Goes Around, Finally Comes Around

by John Knapp

How amazing it is, that policemen were such heroes immediately after 9/11, when George Bush was President, and only 15 years later, they are reviled enough that a racist black lunatic sniper would undertake to kill as many white Dallas cops as he could, just because they were white? And in death, this murderer is roundly applauded by his lunatic comrades!

Bomb threats had been made, to be detonated at a Dallas “BlackLivesMatter” protest, and as the Dallas police tried to usher the predominantly black protesters away from the scene where the bombs supposedly had been planted, the sniper took advantage of the confusion and shot 12 white cops, killing 5 and wounding 7 others, as well as two bystanders. The Dallas cops finally killed the sniper with the help of a mechanical, remote-controlled robotic device of their own.

America is disintegrating before our eyes. It's been said that voters get the government they deserve, and that is true. But the broader question must be asked. Does government follow the culture, or does culture follow the government?

In the beginning of this American experiment in Exceptionalism, the majority of Americans were fresh off the many abuses of the English monarchy, so their new government was designed to follow their culture, which was strong on the side of individual responsibility and personal liberty. The Founders had a shared sense of destiny, a special American destiny. They knew the world was a dangerous place, that a house united stood a much better chance at success than a house divided. They were united in a myriad of ways, to America's ultimate good fortune.

Most early Americans tried to live up to specific American values, including a common denominator of national decency. In the beginning, this government followed the values of the culture, a culture based on God's Laws, and America became the greatest country in history. The Civil War was won on the strength of those innate American values, on the rightness of that cause, because America was a country dedicated to morality and honor. That sense of probity was the glue that held America together for so long....our shared national reaching for what was right, proper, honest and good: the American Way.

But, the best of times have given way to the worst ones and our culture now follows its corrupt government's lead.

Through a century-long flirtation with the poison of incremental Socialism, America has come to the administration of Barack Obama, here a.k.a. as 'His Disgracefulness.' While the Clinton presidency was invested in lying to most of the people some of the time, His Disgracefulness' governing style has been lying to all of the people most of the time, and he's had plenty of sycophants and helpers.

Obamacare was sold on lies, passed on lies, rewritten by Supreme Court Justice John Roberts and then declared Constitutional. (Nope, that made it unconstitutional!) Fast and Furious was a lie. Constantly berating America before the world, ordering Border Patrol agents to 'stand down' on the southern border in the face of an increasing invasion by foreign nationals is treasonous. Ignoring ongoing IRS abuses of Tea Party Groups is political persecution. Ignoring Planned Parenthood abuses of the unborn, in the face of all that has been recently discovered about PP is inexcusable. The continuation of ongoing lies and a failure to redress lies once exposed.

His Disgracefulness' use of Eric Holder and Loretta Lynch, mirror image corrupto-crats, as his successive DOJ Attorneys General, in order to keep himself 'legally' inoculated from the laws he routinely violates, is Clintonesque and tyrannical.

Bringing in thousands upon thousands of un-vettable Middle-Eastern 'refugees' during this era of Islamic terrorism is beyond foolish. Giving White House aid and comfort to supporting elements (the Muslim Brotherhood) of an avowed enemy of this country is treasonous. Refusing to publicly identify that enemy to the American people leaves us incredulous in his blatant obtuseness, outright lies, lies of omission and lies of intentional misdirection. Take your pick.

And just last week, having Hillary Clinton legally absolved of her many criminal, ethical and moral lapses of judgment while she was his Secretary of State is likely a criminal collusion on the part of very many people; lies, all 'round. His Disgracefulness has corrupted most or all of the government agencies which work for him, including the U.S. military. His lies are ubiquitous, unfathomable and nearly total.

When any group of people is forced to live with lies, they will lose their sense of probity. A nation forced to live with routine official lies, outright or implicit, will eventually lose its spirit, and its soul. What could America become, without its probity, spirit, and soul.....but one more third world hell-hole? America is up to its eyebrows, living with 'official' lies.

Thomas Jefferson's words in the Declaration, which rejected any further rule by King George, apply to Barack Hussein Obama, too : ".....begun with circumstances of Cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation."

This brings us back to Dallas, where some of His Disgracefulness' many chickens have finally come home to roost; dead and wounded Dallas police officers, by the hand of a man who claims to have been a member of the "New Black Panthers". Dead and wounded police officers, who have been routinely maligned by “America's Racist-in-Chief”, Barack Obama, has never found reason to rebuff the contrived positions of the “New Black Panthers”, or the “Occupy Wall Street”, or the phony “BlackLivesMatter” crowds. But, he has managed to have the DOJ take over the police departments in nearly two dozen major American cities.

America's first black president has given the race hustlers and their fanatical miscreants all the room they need to nurture their racist fantasies...and now one of them has gone the limit.

The fault for the massacre of white Dallas policemen lies squarely within the walls of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C., 20500, with “The Great American Undoing”, our inimitable “Liar-in-Chief”.

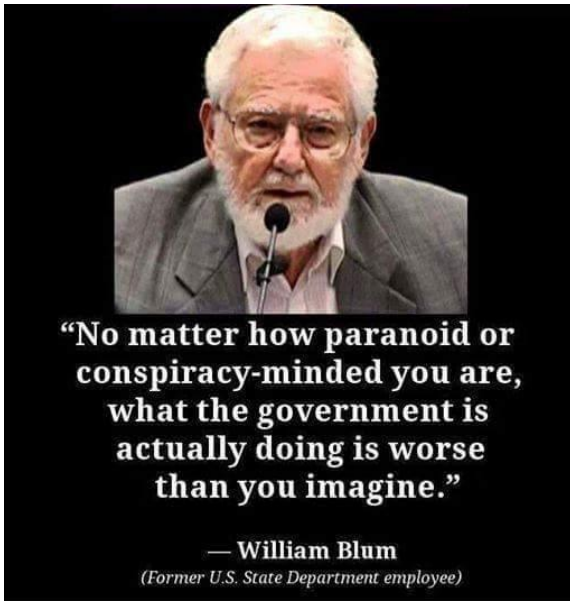

NO NEED TO PUT ANYTHING IN THAT CONSTITUTION ABOUT GUN OWNERSHIP... WHO WOULD WANT TO COMPROMISE THAT?

Deception is Killing America

Communists, from the very beginning, have employed deception. After Karl Marx died, an organization known as the Fabian Socialists formed in Britain. Incremental infiltration followed by staged conversion was, and is, their method. But there has always been deception and it was paramount in bringing about their progressive revolution.

“Occupy Wall Street”, “Occupiers”, “We are the 99” and now, “Black Lives Matter”, are the names that have been used to initiate disruption across America. What these groups have in common are common organizers, namely, Communists, Communist controlled unions, and anarchist activists. The people who populated the “Occupy” movements now populate “Black Lives Matter”. Their purpose is to connect with well-intentioned people, bring chaos and divide.

The St. Augustine Tea Party (SATP) has had experience with these people. SATP engaged the Occupiers in 2011. The SATP's Town Criers refused to join their activities and instead, went on the attack. Over a three-month period the Town Criers prevailed. The “Occupiers” folded. During the entire time, the local press gave ample coverage to the “Occupiers”, but not a word about the Tea Party's valiant and victorious effort. Peter Ellis was the editor of “The Record”, at the time. “The Record” is the local newspaper in St. Augustine, FL. We do not know what, Mr. Ellis' political convictions were, but we do know that the Record's policy was that of Communists. This publication came into existence, at that point, in time, for the express purpose of dispensing the truth..

IT IS BETTER TO DIE FIGHTING FOR A JUST CAUSE THAN TO LIVE IN SILENT APPROVAL OF INJUSTICE.

I will not submit to tyranny!

Partners in Crime

What is the common thread between Acorn, SEIU, Black Lives Matter, Anarchists, Occupiers, Black Panthers and Communists, besides Obama and George Soros? They all use deception, promote violence and try to attach to good intentioned people to further their Communist agenda. Obama supports many of these groups and in particular, “Black Lives Matter”. “Obama has blood on his hands. He uses “Black Lives Matter” as a gun. Obama's behavior makes targets of local law enforcement across the country. Obama's goal is to destroy local law enforcement. Why has he not been removed from office? The answer is, that those in Washington, the professional politicians, are complicit,” a spokesman for SATP said.

Terror Mixed With Treason

What does a “War on Terror” look like when the Commander-in-Chief is a traitor? The truth be told, it looks exactly like the Obama Administration’s conduct on the war,” according to members of the St. Augustine Tea Party (SATP).

Considering the War on Terror, from Fort Hood in 2009 to the most recent coup in Turkey, the Obama Administration has consistently been on the side of the “Muslim Brotherhood”. The Muslim Brotherhood helps organize and finance jihadist organizations. It has been reported that the Brotherhood visits the White House for meetings with Obama. Obama’s inability to define America’s enemies as “Radical Islamic Terrorists” shows an adherence to Shariah law. To speak negatively about Muslims, even if it’s true, is considered slander under Shariah jurisprudence. The Administration’s telegraphing of what they will or will not do and its insistence on political correctness undermines victory. The Islamic jihadists have been at war with the United States since the 1983 bombing of the Marine barracks in Lebanon. . A case could be made, however, that the jihadist attacks extend all the way back to Jefferson’s days and the Barbary Coast Wars. Jihad is mandated by Shariah Law for all Muslim believers. Not all Muslims adhere to Shariah. Those Muslims who do not comply with Shariah are in as much danger as unbelievers and can be treated in a similar manner under Shariah law. Islamic aggression in 1801 and 2016 remains the same, as Shariah is unchanged. A study of Shariah jurisprudence reveals that the strategy employed under the Clinton, Bush and Obama administrations will never bring a victorious conclusion, according to author and former intelligence officer assigned to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Stephen Coughlin. “Political Correctness” destroys the intelligence agencies’ capacity to root out and destroy the Islamic State. Obama seems to come down on the side of the Islamic State at every turn. To collaborate with the enemy is the classic definition of treason.

The Public is Awakening

The SATP's Town Criers engage the public in the historic district on a regular basis. 5 million people visit St. Augustine, Florida per year. Town Criers carry politically incorrect signs not so much as to convert people but to test the public's reaction. One of the most successful campaigns was started on Memorial Day 2012. The Town Criers started carrying a sign that exposed Obama as a Communist. Four years ago some people said, "Well, maybe....maybe a Socialist" Today, the vast majority understands that Obama is a Communist.

[See TCCR June 28, 2015 Ed] In addition, large numbers of the public see him as a Muslim with a hostile agenda for America. Trevor Loudon has identified a cooperative effort between the Communist movement and the Islamic jihadist movement. Both groups are working for the collapse of America. The Town Criers report that the general public perceives that Obama is acting more like a community organizer, then as commander-in-chief. He is using and legitimizing "Black Lives Matter" protests which have been infiltrated by Communist Unions and Anarchists to undermine respect for local law enforcement. The introduction of snipers to kill policeman drives a greater wedge between local law enforcement and the people. Obama's cooperation with the "Muslim Brotherhood" has now brought the Islamic War to American soil. "Politicians in Washington are not prepared to expose this reality. Nor is the establishment media who ignores the situation. The shooter in Baton Rouge was reported to be wearing all black. The media has failed to recognize the significance. The "Black Bloc" is militant anarchist group with a history of violence and is revolutionary; they use a technique of dressing in black, sometimes remaining anonymous. "Ironical that nobody has made the connection in the mainstream media," a Town Crier spokesman explained. "These are serious charges. They are charges of treason."

Poll taken After RNC Convention in Cleveland

National Clinton /Trump Results:

- Hillary Clinton 9%
- Donald Trump 71%
- Neither 20%

Photos by TCC Staff

On July 23, 2016, the Town Criers, a committee of the St. Augustine Tea Party, conducted a poll in the historic district of St. Augustine, Florida. Five million people per year visit St. Augustine, Florida. So, on any given day, the demographics represent a national audience. The poll is a face-to-face random selection as 2,500 to 4000 tourists in a day, walk by the pollsters on St. George Street, in St. Augustine, Florida.

Town Criers Do Not Prepare or Pay their Focus Group.

Unlike Frank Luntz's Focus Groups on the Fox News Network, the St. George Street Pollsters do not pay or coach the random people when questioning, "Who will you vote for"? It is as simple as that. Nor do the Town Criers push a candidate with leading questions or ask for opinions about candidates like Luntz does. Both candidates' pictures, in this case Trump and Clinton, were shown to the tourists from all over the country and asked who they would choose for President in November. The results speak for themselves.
