Hey, Rush. This is not a Betsy Ross Knock Off!

The month of July is the time that Americans celebrate the summer season and the founding of America. The kids are out of school and everything is Americana as they enjoy the big event, Independence Day.

To diminish the patriotic fervor, the 'Hit Squad' and the "Marxist-Feminist- Communist" agitators have attacked the Betsy Ross flag and the Gadsden flags, both military flags and everything Americana. Their efforts have resulted in rejection and are having the opposite effect.

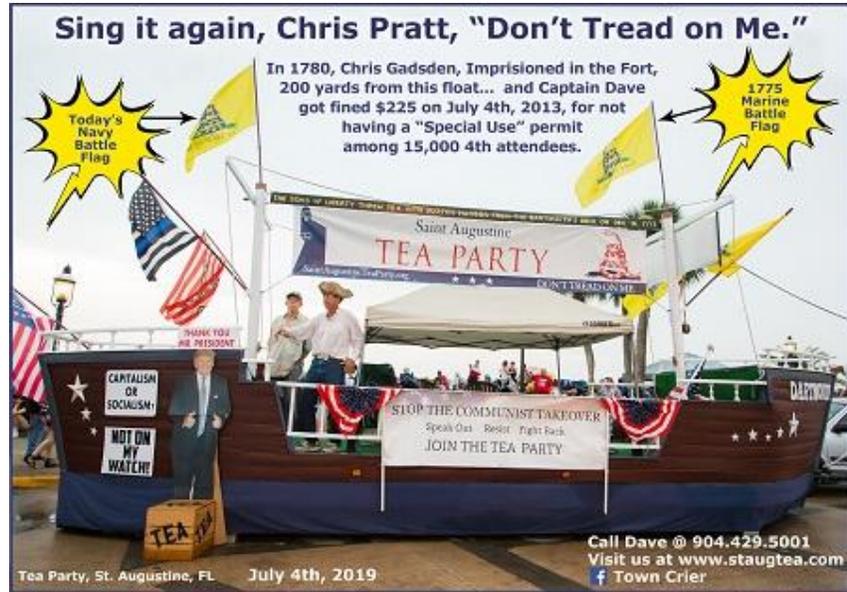

Rush Limbaugh raised 3 million dollars and was tooting his humble horn about the fact that there were no XL t-shirts shirts available in the United States since he bought them all up!

Photos by TCCR Staff

Meanwhile, Chris Pratt, movie actor and now Country singing star, beat back the attack from the left and defended the Gadsden flag from the chorus of Marxists. Sales of his Gadsden t-shirts has sky rocketed!

Down in St Augustine, FL, the oldest city in the United States, the Tea Party was thrilled to have volunteer contributions at the Fourth of July celebration in excess of $800! Our float at the Castillo de San Marcos was covered with Gadsden Flags as tens of thousands of people passed by and took pictures with Donald Trump!

The following week at the St. Augustine Tea Party meeting, an out of the box Betsy Ross flag, pictured above, was auctioned off. The starting bid was $20 which immediately jumped to a $100 bid by an enthusiastic Senior Citizen Patriot! The backlash to the attack on these two flags by the 4 'Hit Squad' Congress women and "Communist Fellow Travelers" has been an eye opener. The Commie-Cats are out of the bag for all to see!

Long live the Republic of the United States of America.

Where Mass Murderers Come From....

By John Knapp

Whenever there is a mass shooting, the Leftist media always throws the same Hail Mary pass, that it was a right-wing kook who was the perpetrator. But it always turns out to be a Leftist shooter when all the facts come out.

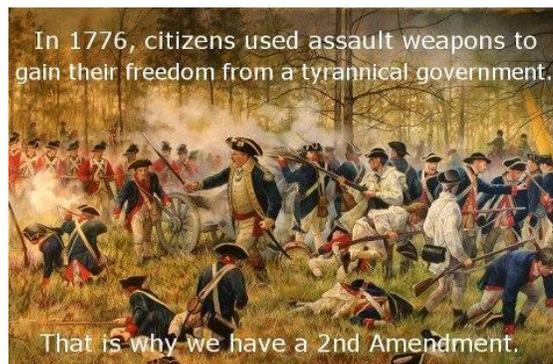

To break this down as simply as I can, when the shooter fires off the first round of his terrible, senseless deed, he has just displayed his true nature, his true natural instincts, and his total lack of humanity. He has just identified his inner self, his bottom line, to be a mindless, Leftist-terrorist thug.

To humans who live on the Right and think from the Right, spraying a crowd of strangers with gunfire is never even a consideration, a pathway to air any grievance.

But the Right needs weapons for self-defense, from individual Leftist thugs, and even more to protect their liberties from corrupt, tyrannical, government thugs.

'One death is a tragedy, but a million deaths is a statistic', explained Joseph Stalin, who killed millions of his own countrymen. Leftist Fidel Castro's go-to Leftist assassin, Che Guevara, mass-murdered scores of Cuban citizens during the Cuban Revolution, just one or two citizens at a time.

Mass murderers come out of the ranks of the political Left, not the political Right. It's high time we all understand this simple, universal fact. The Left is the natural, worldwide fount of murder and mayhem.

Chairman's Report

American Greatness is its Constitution

American greatness, which was first revisited in the Conservative Movement that began with the Tea Parties in 2009, is at odds with those who want victims and those who want winners. For eight years, under the Obama administration, greatness was defined by how many people became dependent on government for all or part of their subsistence. Now, being under the Trump administration, greatness is measured by how many people are freed from government assistance.

I have spent a considerable amount of time evaluating the transition from Tea Party to Trump. My personal experience with the Tea Party movement goes back to its founding days, back to the time when the Democrats would refer to Tea Party members as "Tea Baggers". The term "Tea Baggers" originated as a derogatory term in a homosexual world.

At the same time, the Republicans looked at the Tea Party as something to exploit. The early Tea Party rallies generated great numbers, something the Republican Party has never been able to do. So for the Republicans it became a control or destroy operation where Tea Parties were concerned. The Tea Parties and the GOP were never a good fit. The Tea Party was and is a loud and vocal populist movement. Populism is something Republicans are not comfortable with. We used to embarrass them when this Tea Party was under their control.

The GOP establishment fought our Tea Party values from the beginning. They also resisted Tea Party candidates preferring Democrats, in some cases, over Tea Party hopefuls. Senate races in Rhode Island and Nevada come to mind. The GOP preferred Harry Reid over Tea Party candidate Sharron Angle and Republican operatives used dirty tricks for Reid's benefit. When Angle lost, the Republican establishment blamed The Tea Party for the loss. In the end, speaking for the GOP, Karl Rove declared the Tea Parties dead. This occurred some years ago.

Recently, Tea Parties, that are still functioning, celebrated their 10th anniversary. Our success came from the fact that we had reverence for the greatness of America as found in the Constitution's creation. It is a Constitution which created a system of limited government, self-reliance, free enterprise and an adherence to a laissez-faire capitalist system. These are the values that truly made America great.

Values the Republicans have never had, going all the way back to their very founding in 1854. They threw the Constitution's values under the bus as they set forth to make the central government the major focus of power in America. If you doubt this, I suggest that you look into the history of the War Between the States.

Let's fast-forward:

Today we have a Democratic Party that is dominated by Communists and Anarchists and a Republican Party whose leadership is dedicated to Globalism as opposed to the interests of American citizens. To get to the heart of the matter, we have a two-party system that no longer functions. This is because both parties are moving in the same direction. And that direction is not in the interest of "We the People".

Under the leadership of our two political parties, our "Constitutional Values" have been swept under the rug. The result is that we have a President who is clearly the leader of a conservative movement, whose roots are deeply bound in the Tea Party experience and who is despised by everyone in the political arena.

Populist President Donald J. Trump defeated both the Democrats and the Republicans in the 2016 election. Sometimes I cringe when I see Trump at one of his rallies talking about how great this Senator or that Governor is, when it was those very people who stabbed the Tea Party in the back. And they are the same people who would betray Trump in a heartbeat to further their globalist agenda.

The last time we had someone standing alone in Washington was in the time of Joseph McCarthy, a Republican Senator from Wisconsin. Washington devoured him. His great sin was to tell the truth in a city that prefers lies. He exposed Communists in the intelligence services, at the State Department, in the Army and among the film makers and entertainers in Hollywood. History has proven that he was right in his accusations. McCarthy was not up to the attack Washington mounted from both political parties and the fake news of the times. Consumed with heavy drink he died at an early age, in disgrace.

Donald Trump is every bit as controversial as McCarthy was. Trump also seeks the truth. We pray that President Trump continues to show the strength McCarthy didn't have. We know one thing for sure; Trump will not end up a rejected drunk. Trump doesn't consume alcohol.

What we are going to find out is that the Deep State is populated by Communists and Fellow Travelers. Fellow Travelers are those who are not necessarily Communists, but further the Marxist agenda for their own personal political gains. Fellow Travelers are the first to be eliminated when the Communist revolution is complete. For more on Fellow Travelers check the history of the Russian Revolution.

Marxism runs contrary to the essence of the American concept of Individual Liberty as expressed in the Declaration of Independence. Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness are totally inconsistent with Marx's Communist Manifesto. Marx's ideas have their roots in Europe, in cultures where the word serfdom, historically, best describes the people in the "Old World" country.

In America the self-reliant individualist” defined, “We the People”. This was true at its founding and the years that followed. The people who voluntarily came here were not looking for “Social Justice” they were looking for “Equal Justice”. Our founding documents created a Republic, I repeat, a Republic, to ensure the concept of Individual Liberty which was embodied in the application of Equal Justice.

Equal Justice cannot exist in a democracy because a democracy is nothing more than mob rule. In a democracy the rules change every time there’s a new majority. The resulting instability leads to dictatorships. Our Founding Fathers understood the nature of democracies. That is why the word democracy does not exist in any of the founding documents.

Equal Justice is also a characteristic of “American Exceptionalism”. What makes America exceptional in the entire world is the concept of the people being Sovereign and equal under the law. And far more important than the people they elect. We the People of the United States are not subjects of an elitist ruling class.

Today, half the people would say these views are extreme. They would say that they are the views of White Supremacists and are racist. That is because the Marxists and Communists are obsessed with democracy. The Communists among us are always in some stage of saving our democracy.

Talk about a big lie. We are a Republic not a democracy. That’s why the Constitution must be eliminated for the left to succeed. When Barack Obama initiated his program of fundamentally transforming America, his focus was on the Justice Department. With the Justice Department in check he could use other agencies at will, with impunity, to harass American citizens he perceived as political enemies. And, he did so. The IRS, the FBI, the State Department, under both Clinton and Kerry, and of course various intelligence agencies are examples. The depth of Obama’s corruption saturates the media, but his name is rarely mentioned. Michelle Obama waits in the wings.

Washington will fight Trump with everything they have as they did with McCarthy. If Donald Trump is not successful or is prevented from restoring Equal Justice under the law, then the political differences that divide the nation will not be resolved.

Nothing less than the indictments of a former President, two Secretaries of State, the Attorney Generals under the previous administration, the former FBI director and the individuals who aided them will do. Nothing less will do! That’s what it’s going to take to restore the Country to greatness.

A cleansing in Washington will flow into equally tainted State and Local Governments. It is time to purge those at all levels that have no understanding of their oath of office and who engage in the deliberate violation of the Constitution. As I have said before, history teaches us that political problems that are not resolved politically are resolved in war. God save the Republic.

The Best of the Worst

Cultural War and Education, the Discussion at the Tea Party

On August 13, 2019, the St. Augustine Tea Party (SATP) had as their featured speaker, Beverly Slough, Vice-Chairman of the St Johns County School Board, at their open meeting. The American educational system has slipped from being number one, twenty or so years ago, to being number 27 out of 33 industrial Nations, depending on the source.

St John County Schools have always been near the top on the educational scale in the State of Florida and those in attendance were happy about that. However, the distinction makes it the “Best of the Worst” in Florida. Florida is ranked 29th according to “USA Today”.

It appears to some within the membership of the SATP, that Beverly Slough is doing the best she can in a very difficult situation where the Marxist cultural perversions have crept into every discipline. When asked whether the Johns County Schools were teaching Civics she replied, “The fifth grade students are introduced to the Constitution, 7th grade students get three additional weeks of the Constitution, 2 weeks of the Declaration of Independence, local government, State government and Federal government. And at the 12th grade level, students learn more about the Constitution.” She also added that there was a Teenage Republican Club at the High School and that the St. Johns County Schools celebrate Constitution Day.

When, Lance Thate, the SATP Chairman was asked about Mrs. Slough’s comments concerning the Constructional expose in the schools, he responded with, “This may be well and good. It may even be the intention of the School Board. But there is a disconnect somewhere. When our Town Criers meet local high school students in the historic district, our Town Crier volunteers are shocked at the inability of the students to engage intelligently about the Constitution on the most basic level. We are talking about hundreds of encounters over the last 8 years”. The Town Criers are a committee of the St. Augustine Tea Party that frequently passes out pocket editions of the Constitution in the historic district of St. Augustine, Florida.

Mrs. Slough was asked about Logan Parham, a student, who attends St. Augustine High School. Parham was on Fox News’ “Fox and Friends” because he had taken a picture of an examination question with his cell phone which revealed gross left wing bias. The SATP did extensive coverage of Logan Parham and advocated for his cause.

Slough said that she stood up for the resolution of the problem with Logan Parham.

some of the leftist propoganda being taught. The mother also stated that her daughter was a math whiz but had difficulty with the Common Core math which was being taught. This system is like walking backwards using an abacus or a bunch of beads or columns for adding up the units, tens, hundreds and thousands versus the old way of memorizing the time tables so that you could add and subtract in your head. Responding to public outrage, the Florida legislators handled it by simply changing the name of "Common Core" to "Florida Standards" and making a few minor changes.

the speaker. She was accompanied by her husband who is a church planter around the World. We wish someone would publish the changes that were made to Common Core or was changing the name to Florida Standards, just a con job?" David Heimbold, SATP Media Chairman asks.

However, the highlight of the meeting was a verbal ping-pong between the Grandfather of a local female student and Mrs. Slough about that student having been exposed to salacious sexual information from one of the teachers on the second day of school. The Grandfather was accompanied by his daughter, the mother of the female student, who expressed her dismay at

It would be a great relief to actually find what those changes were. We know that the new Governor, Ron DeSantis, has made some changes but it's still unclear to "The Peasants" who send their children to "Government Schools" what changes were made.

"All in all, it was a good meeting. Everybody was polite. A few emotional outbursts occurred, but not to attack

Chairman's Report

Is Chaos Coming?

Back in the mid-sixties Eric Berne wrote a book entitled "Games People Play". Perhaps some of you remember it. It was written for psychologists, but it caught on and became a New York Times Bestseller. Berne was a psychologist who developed transactional analysis as a way of describing human interrelationships. One of the games that people play in the world of transactional analysis is called, "Ain't it Awful". It seems that this game is being played worldwide at an intensity that is hard to believe, with the United States as ground zero.

In transactional analysis, game playing takes place when people communicate emotionally. Politicians universally participate in the game 'Ain't it Awful', pointing to each other without really defining the problem and therefore not resolving the problem. This, of course, is the goal of both political parties. The status quo is to be maintained at all costs. Without resolving the problem the voter gets to pick between the best of two evils. Personally, I will not do that any longer.

To truly solve a problem, you need to identify it and then rationally, in an adult manner, communicate to find a solution. That rarely happens in the political world.

Observing the media today, it is abundantly clear that no one is communicating from the adult ego state. Instead the commentary goes like this, "Can you imagine, if Trump said this, what the other side's response would be?" The conversation is not about the issue, but about a hypothetical issue of no importance. This continual stream of non-communication defines the media today.

This is very damaging and dangerous to the world we live in and especially to those who love Liberty. This continual game playing is alienating people and the division will ultimately result in chaos. This is exactly what the Communists want. They perceive that they will win in your confusion because their glorious leader, one Karl Marx, said so in the 1850's. He envisioned the workers of the world rising up, taking power and then surrendering that power to elitist leaders who allegedly knew what was best for them.

To some extent, that picture has worked out in Europe, in Russia and Germany, at great loss of life. This view will not work in America. Our workers are creative, productive and successful in our society. So in America the Communists have been forced to appeal to the nonproductive elements in our culture. Remember it is not about ideas or issues. The only thing that is important to the Communists is their agenda.

On August 26th, Glenn Beck illustrated the 'Ain't it Awful' game being played by assigning blame to various Presidents on his radio program. He suggested that each President initiated a program or an idea that started our march to "Serfdom". These are my words, not Beck's. He went from Trump to FDR, blaming each one individually for the decline in our principles and values, but in the end recognizing that it wasn't any one of the Presidents but, rather, all of them.

This is the nature of the progressive brand of Communism that surfaced after Marx's death. Now they are out in the open for all to see. We can see their true nature. And it is pure evil if you value Liberty. The Progressives have been, incrementally, taking us apart step-by-step throughout the decades, implementing the fundamental transformation to a Communist society. It has not mattered whether a Democrat or Republican held office. The Marxist agenda went forward.

And then came Trump, a candidate who defeated both political parties in the name of "We the People". Today we have a Democratic Party that is dominated by Communists and Anarchists and a Republican Party whose leadership is dedicated to Globalism. Both parties are dedicated to collective tyranny. We have a two-party system that no longer functions. This is because both parties are motivated to maintain the status quo regarding the ruling class.

As I said two weeks ago, Donald Trump stands alone among the politically elite. We have a President who is clearly the leader of a conservative movement which gained its initial strength in the Tea Party experience. As a result, Trump is despised by everyone who resides in the political arena. It is now obvious that our populist President, Donald J. Trump, defeated both parties in the 2016 election. As I said at our last meeting, we are about to find out that the Deep State is populated by Communists and Fellow Travelers. Fellow Travelers being those who are not necessarily Communists, but further the Marxist agenda for their own personal political gains.

We see this occurring all over the country at all levels of government. This is not only in the realm of the Democrat party, but also prevails in the GOP as well. Trump cannot be allowed to expose the magnitude of the corruption. His dedication to "We the People", as opposed to the elitist rulers who owe their allegiance to the Central Banks of the world and other financial interests, must be removed from the American experience.

Our so called political leaders do not understand that the People of the United States are not subjects of an elitist ruling class. If you doubt this, join an Executive Committee of either party and you will see the contempt the "Precinct Captains" have for the voters. To date, Washington has thrown everything they possibly can to take down the duly elected President of the United States. It is becoming clear that their options are running out.

We see the media shifting to talk of recession. A financial collapse is perceived as one path to unseat Trump. The Central Banks have the power to take down the economy. It should be noted that Central banks are now in a mode of acquiring physical gold. A necessary step, if they implement a plan to take down the economy. This may prove to be too expensive for even the elite financiers of the world.

In which case, assassination cannot be ruled out as another option. In either scenario chaos will follow. At the founding of the Tea Party many members prepared for hard times. Those preparations may prove to be invaluable, as the danger is far greater than it was in 2009. To those who are not prepared, I urge you to take heed.

The Deep State must be exposed and those who have committed crimes must be brought to Justice. The Constitution created a republic with equal Justice under the law for all. It is abundantly clear that the Deep State interests believe that Justice for the elites is different from Justice for “We the People”. If this condition continues and prevails, then we will not be the exceptional nation our ancestors died for. And, the Republic as founded will fail.

Wake up time folks!

God bless our Republic.
